Congo Asks for Immediate Russian Help

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The Cabinet of the Congo government voted today to ask the Soviet Union to send in troops with the purpose of keeping order and bringing about evacuation of all Belgian troops.

Actual delivery of the request apparently was being delayed pending further discussions in the United Nations tonight.

The appeal also invited troops from "any other country (to the Afro-Asian plan), presumably the nations that attended the Bandung conference in Indonesia in 1955. That would include Red China."

Making the announcement at a news conference immediately after the Cabinet meeting, Premier Patrice Lumumba said the mission of these troops would be:

1. To effect the peaceful evacuation of Belgian soldiers from the Congo.
2. Assist in maintaining order in the country in conformity with government's decisions.
3. Prevent all foreign aggression.

The communique said the Cabinet decision was made because the Belgian government refused to withdraw its troops from the Congo in conformity with the de-

5 Candidates Blaze Late Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The five candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor blazed late campaign trails through southwest Arkansas yesterday, then all but Gov. Orval Faubus rolled on to other sections of the state for appearances today.

Faubus was scheduled to speak today at Rondo, a tiny settlement that was the Civil War capital of Arkansas. The occasion is a political rally and chicken supper near Rondo Cemetery, where many Civil War dead are buried.

Yesterday's flurry of campaigning followed the same general pattern of the past two months. However, the politicking took on a more intense note, pointed out in a comment by Joe C. Hardin over a Hope radio station.

"We have a job to do, and only a few days remain in which to do it," the Democratic primary election is next Tuesday.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett lashed at Faubus for sending Jonesboro attorney James McDaniel to speak for him in a Monday night rally in Pine Bluff. McDaniel was one of two attorneys who defended convicted bomber E.A. Lauderdale in his trial for his part in three Little Rock Labor Day bombings.

"It's gotten to where every time you look up," Bennett said,

U. S. Budget Surplus Is $1.1 Billion

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower today announced a $1,100,000,000 budget surplus for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The surplus is more than five times as large as the figure the President predicted last January. "This demonstration of fiscal responsibility not only reinforces economic strength here at home, but reaffirms to the world that the United States intends to run its financial affairs on a sound basis."

The announcement, coming just a few days in advance of the opening of the GOP National Convention, is sure to be seized on with delight by Republicans in their campaign to regain the presidency and capture control of Congress.

This was the Eisenhower administration's third budget surplus in seven years.

In Washington it was reported that unexpected gains in the personal income of Americans, boosting federal individual income tax collections, contributed most of the revenue increase.

Corporation taxes yielded loss handsomely, owing to the decline in business profits caused by the long steel strike last summer and fall. But even the profit figure was better than many had expected six months ago. At that time some officials feared the fiscal year would wind up in red ink.

10,000 PATIENTS ADMITTED

Although more than 10,000 patients have been admitted at the State Hospital for Nervous Diseases during the past four years, the hospital population is about 200 patients lower because of improvements in care and treatment programs.

Holly Grove Methodist Church, 12 miles north of Hope, plans a special supper plate, Thursday night at 7 o'clock, for the $1.00 plate affair is sponsored by the WSCS. All candidates and the public is invited.

Hope City Police report three batteries have been taken from a garage at the home of John Gray, near the Hope Brick Works.

Last weekend at the Hempstead County Singing Convention at Garrett Memorial Baptist Church new officers were elected.

Ivy Mitchell was re-elected president. Venera Bright, secretary and treasurer. Brenda Mitchell, assistant. An estimated 200 persons attended the convention which seems to grow larger each year.

Livestock and Timber Experiment Station Announced for Hope

City of Hope Gives $5,000 to Local Fund

The City of Hope made the following announcement at Tuesday night's meeting on the Ned Purdie farm:

Recognizing the vital contribution made to the economy of Hope, Hempstead County, and the State of Arkansas, by those engaged in cattle and various forestry enterprises, the citizens of Hope, speaking and acting through their elected officials, the Board of Directors of the City of Hope and the Water and Light Commission, are happy to announce they will participate with those endeavoring to raise $15,000 for the purpose of stocking the proposed Southwest Arkansas Livestock and Timber Experiment Station.

This expansion program will add 1,000 acres to the land available for the University Experiment Station, and the benefits of this program will be widespread. The most direct benefit will be to three principal interests.

The cattle interests of Southwest Arkansas will benefit from the facilities and experiment conducted at this station.

The timber interests of this area will benefit directly from the timber experiments conducted on the enlarged timber acreage.

The citizens and business interests of the City of Hope will receive direct benefit from the increased activities and employment which this enlargement will bring about.

The location of this program in Hope is the result of a lot of work by various groups in Southwest Arkansas. To get the plan in motion will require local support in the amount of $15,000, and the sponsoring groups propose that this be divided equally between the cattle and timber interests and the City of Hope, with each group sharing 1/3 of the total cost.

The Board of City Directors and the members of the Water and Light Commission are in unanimous agreement that this will be a wonderful addition to this section of Arkansas and are happy to pledge the community support for 1/3 of the necessary local contribution.

Youth Injured in Plant Accident

Time Garner, 18, of Spring Hill, suffered a badly lacerated hand yesterday at Bruner Ivory Handle Co. when he accidentally caught it in a machine. At first it appeared he would lose his hand but reports today indicate he lost a finger and could lose another. He was rushed to a local hospital by an Onkerest ambulance.

Ike All for Hitting Back at Russia

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was reported today to be all for a policy of American officials hitting back hard and fast at Kremlin propaganda onslaughts against the United States.

World from the summer White House at Newport, R.I., was that the President had given a personal go-ahead on this at a conference there Tuesday with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other key foreign policy advisers.

Much of the hitting back reportedly will be done through the United Nations, where U.S. and Soviet delegates have been sparring verbally this week over the Cuban situation.

But Herter made it apparent on leaving the Newport meeting that not all of the return fire will originate in the U.N.

"He promptly advised the Soviet Union of waging 'a very provocative type' of an anti-American campaign. Asked by newsmen to speculate on the motives for the Soviet attitude, he said: 'We take this attitude seriously and regard it as one we should give serious consideration to.'"

Further evidence of the policy of replying to Soviet charges came late Tuesday when the State Department rejected a Soviet demand made only a few hours earlier that 20 armed Americans be withdrawn from the Congo.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, termed the Moscow demand a "desperate and almost frantic effort" to obstruct U.N. efforts to restore order in the riot-torn Congo. He said the Americans were there to help the U.N. and troops from other countries as well as supplies for U.N. units.

As examples of the "provocative" Soviet campaign since the breakup of the May summit conference, Herter listed for newsmen: the recent Soviet downing of the U.S. RB47 plane, recent statements by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on the Berlin situation, Soviet attitudes on Cuba and the Congo, and Moscow's breakdown of the Geneva disarmament talks.

Asked if Khrushchev might be rattling sabers to cover up troubles at home, Herter declined a yes or no answer. But he said it was "a factor that has to be considered."

Man Finally Saved With Copter's Aid

BROWNFIELD, Tex. (AP) — As thousands watched in horror, a gravely injured man clung to a window high in a burning grain elevator Tuesday and begged: "Help me! Help me! I'm burning to death!"

After two hours of desperate maneuvering, a helicopter finally dropped a cable and a former steepjack descended to save him.

The drama followed two thundering explosions which ripped a giant grain storage elevator and sent flames racing for hours through the 180-foot high structure.

Three men died and another was missing and presumed dead. Five others were injured.

One of the victims, Paul Aiken, about 32, of Brownfield, his clothes flaming, leaped 50 feet from near the top of the elevator to a landing in an attempt to avoid burning to death. He died a short time after arriving at a hospital.

Others listed as dead were Royce Lawhorn, about 50, and Henry Nix, about 24, both of Brownfield.

Missing and presumed buried in the debris was C. L. Burden, age unknown of Brownfield. Elevator Mgr. V. N. Lewallen said Burden was working in the elevator at the time of the explosion "and I don't see how he could be alive."

Firemen blamed an exploding grain dust for the disaster.

The helicopter that saved Philip Reeves, of Cotton Valley, La., came from Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock, 35 miles northeast of here. Donald Elbington, ex-steepjack of Brownfield, assisted in the rescue.

Tommy Jones Tells About Boys State

Tommy Jones, son of Mrs. Kathryn Jones of Hope, was guest speaker before Hope Kiwanis Club Tuesday and gave a comprehensive review of Boys State which he attended recently at Little Rock.

The club entertained several guests, including four from Camden, Dr. Paul Hardy, John Hamilton, Charles Gray and John Coleman. Other guests were the Rev. Mr. Isabell, who is conducting a revival at the church of the Nazarene; John Regan of Little Rock, and Gordon Kling of Rochester, Minn.

Injuries Fatal to Prescott Woman

PRESCOTT, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Tom J. Jasley, 79, of Prescott, died yesterday of injuries suffered Saturday in an auto wreck near Malvern.

Mrs. Hasley and her husband, who was not injured, were in a car which went out of control and crashed into a ditch.

1,000-Acre Lloyd Spencer Farm Leased

Addition of a Livestock and Timber Experiment Station to the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station just east of Hope will announce Tuesday night at a meeting of children and University of Arkansas officials on the Ned Purdie farm.

The announcement climaxed a day-long tour of ranches in Miller and Hempstead counties, and brought to realization a dream that local cattlemen have been working on for some time.

The official announcement from the University of Arkansas follows:

Official Announcement

The University of Arkansas Agricultural Experiment Station has just entered into a long-term lease for 1,000 acres of land from Lloyd Spencer, of Hope. It has been announced by Dr. John W. White, vice-president for agriculture. The tract of land is located on Highway 67 within a short distance of the present headquarters of the Southwest Branch Experiment Station, and it will be operated as a part of that station.

Farm leaders in southwestern Arkansas have long been interested in seeing improvements made in our agricultural research program for the area, particularly as it relates to livestock and forestry," Dr. White pointed out. "Thus, the University's Division of Agriculture is greatly indebted to Mr. Spencer, to the cattle leaders in Hope, and to the farm leaders for their assistance in making this tract of land available for use in our experimental work. With this addition the Southwest Branch Station will be able to do a better job of research for Southwest Arkansas on livestock, forestry, and adapted crops."

The farm, a highly developed crop and livestock farm, consists of about 320 acres of bottom land, 503 acres of upland pasture and meadow land, and 177 acres of pine forest. It includes a wide variety of soils typical of the Coastal Plain of Arkansas.

Beef And Timber

The program being developed for the land being acquired from Mr. Spencer will deal largely with beef cattle and forestry research. Since the beef cow herd is becoming an increasingly important part of the economy of Southwest Arkansas, emphasis will be on cow and calf programs. Objectives in the beef cattle research will include studies of the importance of protein, vitamin, and mineral supplements in cow and calf nutrition; the management of adapted forage species so as to provide year-round optimum nutrition for cow and calf; the use of insecticides and verminicides; and the relationship of economy of production to animal and forage management practices.

The forestry research program for the Coastal Plain will be expanded. Emphasis will be given to the rehabilitation of poorly stocked pine sites by chemical removal of hardwoods and direct pine seeding where no natural seed source is available; the preparation of sites for pine production; the economical management of a poorly stocked part of the woodland, the establishment and management of forest plantations including exotic species as well as native pines, and direct and indirect control of the pine tip moth.

The new land also will permit consolidation and more efficient operation of the research now being conducted in the area on enterprises other than livestock and forestry, according to Dr.

Three Law Students At U. of A. Honored

Three University of Arkansas Law School graduates have won Jim G. Ferguson Awards for scholastic achievement. Dean Ralph Barnhart has announced the awards went to Sidney P. Davis of Fayetteville, son of Mrs. S. P. Davis of Prescott, John G. Kolb of Fort Smith and Walter W. Davidson of Rogers. All three graduated this spring.

Davis' awards amounted to $500 and Kolb and Davidson received $250 each. The money is made available for the purpose of law books, the dean said.

The awards are made annually by Ferguson, a former Arkansas state official who is now an insurance executive at Glenview, Ill. Selection of recipients is made by the School of Law faculty on the basis of high scholastic standing, Barnhart said.

"someone close to the Faubus administration is either dynamiting some building, transporting dynamite, or defending a bunch of dynamiters."

Lauderdale, who was sentenced to three years in prison for his part in the bombings, has appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

"It is extremely bad taste," Bennett said in a televised speech in Texarkana. "For a governor to become obligated to an attorney representing a convicted dynamiter whose case is still in litigation."

Bennett is scheduled to speak in Batesville, Salem and Calico Rock today. H. E. Williams and H. H. Millsap Jr. have television speeches scheduled in Fort Smith. Millsap and Hardin will attend a chicken fry at Mt. Nebo near Russellville. Hardin also will visit Ozark.

Faubus speaking at a rally at a junior high school last night, blasted Williams and Hardin. He said Williams is actively supported by integrationists. "He speaks one way in Little Rock and another way when he's outside of Little Rock," Faubus said.

Reviewing the accomplishments of his administration, Faubus said the state penitentiary is more efficiently operated so as to bring more money into the state treasury. He said the reason for this is prison labor is being used on state farms "instead of being sent out to nearby plantations to work private property and help build fortunes of others."

He said "One man in this race against me can tell you more about that."

Millsap viewed Arkansas' overall situation in a television address in Texarkana. "Your state taxes have doubled in the last ten years. And yet Arkansas is 49 or 50th in education, industry, roads, welfare, salaries, recreational facilities, employment, school enrollments, old age pensions and agricultural progress."

Millsap promised to give voters "a dollar of government and benefits for every tax dollar you spend."

Hardin said in radio speeches in Nashville and Hope that "It is my conviction that I offer greater qualifications for the job of governor than any other man in the race."

He blasted the Faubus-backed school-closing amendment and elections of the United Nations Security Council and of the Congo government. It also said the U.N. troops in the country had failed to effect the withdrawal of the Belgians.

The Belgians agreed to a truce command request to pull out of Leopoldville. They already have begun withdrawing.

The Belgians already have begun turning over patrol duties to the swelling U.N. force in Leopoldville, but other units still patrolled in about 20 cities and towns scattered over the strife-torn African republic.

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold announced in New York he plans to fly to the Congo Saturday to check on the situation. Tonight he will make a progress report to the Security Council on the swiftly mobilized, blue-helmeted U.N. force the Council ordered to the Congo last week to restore order.

Tunisia was reported planning to introduce a resolution before the Council calling for speedier withdrawal of the Belgian troops. Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny was flying to New York with a proposal for a Council embargo against arms shipments to the Congo and a request for an international investigation of alleged brutalities to Belgian settlers in the Congo.

U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche reported Sweden, Italy, Canada, Burma and several Latin countries, old age pensions and agricultural progress."

Miss Tregoff Is Hauled Off to Jail

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sheriff's deputies Tuesday dragged Carole Tregoff — handcuffed, kicking, screaming and sobbing — back to a jail cell.

Her bail was revoked when she refused to come to the court where she and Dr. R. Bernard Finch are on trial for a second time, on charges they murdered his wife. The first trial ended in a hung jury.

Carole, 23, sent word to the court by a friend, that she was ill with nerves.

Superior Court Judge LeRoy Dawson sent the county jail medical director, Dr. Marcus Graham, to her South Pasadena home to check her. A woman deputy, Gabrielle Johnson, went along.

Dr. Graham said the red-haired ex-model seemed healthy to him. Deputy Johnson agreed. She said Carole punched her in the stomach and slapped her face, and "it didn't feel very good."

The woman deputy called for male assistance. Carole was forcibly taken to the county jail, rebooked, placed in a cell, and two hours later led to court.

The judge agreed to let a defense-appointed physician examine Miss Tregoff. He also said he would consider readmitting her to bail later.

Dr. Finch, 42, was refused bail after their first trial ended in a hung jury. In the past three weeks opposing counsel have selected a jury and now are trying to agree on four alternates to hear the second trial.

Getting the Belgian withdrawal under way was seen as a victory for the U.N. operation. But Premier Patrice Lumumba insisted he wanted all Belgian troops out

2 Americans to Visit Red China

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China has granted permission for two Americans to visit relatives imprisoned in China, the U. S. consulate said today.

A consulate spokesman said the permission was given to Judge William C. Walsh of Cumberland, Md., and Mary V. Downey of New Britain, Conn.

Judge Walsh's brother, Bishop James E. Walsh, a Roman Catholic missionary, who was sentenced last March to 20 years imprisonment for espionage. He had been held in Shanghai since Oct. 16, 1958.

Mrs. Downey is the mother of John T. Downey, a U.S. Army civilian employee imprisoned in Peiping. Downey was sentenced Nov. 23, 1954, to life imprisonment on a charge of espionage.

The United States has protested Bishop Walsh's imprisonment and appealed repeatedly to the Chinese Communists for the release of Downey and other Americans held captive in Red China. Peiping has rejected or ignored the appeals.

Five Americans are known to be imprisoned in Communist China. In addition to Downey and Bishop Walsh, they are Richard G. Feeleau, Lynn, Mass., serving a 20-year term in Peiping on a charge of espionage, Robert E. McConn, Alameda, Calif., and Hugh F. Redmond Jr., Yonkers, N. Y., American businessmen serving terms of 15 years and life on similar charges.

White. Because the tract being leased from Mr. Spencer is so close to the present Branch Station, it will be possible to consolidate research and carry it on more efficiently and at less expense.

Dr. White pointed out that project leaders of the Experiment Station will start immediately making plans for the different studies to be conducted on the new land. The lease becomes effective on January 1, 1961, and research activities will begin then.

GOPs to Stick to Middle of Road Plan

By OVID A. MARTIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Republican platform drafters are obviously partial to a conservative point of view, but the chances are they'll come up with a middle-of-the-road banner for the party to carry in 1960.

The 103-member Resolutions Committee heard speeches by nine political, industrial, economic, and scientific leaders Tuesday. It gave its most enthusiastic reception to those who criticized what they called a trend toward a welfare state. It cheered those who call for a bold cutback in government participation in the economic life of the nation.

The committee will hear other spokesmen today, advocating in some cases more federal spending and in others less federal activity in the economic and public welfare fields.

The committee's reactions Tuesday were in sharp contrast to the way its counterpart at the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles greeted its witnesses. The Democrats warmly applauded those urging a bolder government role in the nation's life, and this was reflected in their platform.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona was the darling of the day for the Republican committee members.

It is perhaps the party's bitterest critic of government spending and related programs. His introduction drew a standing ovation that included many wild cheers. When he finished he was given another ovation.

By contrast, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York drew a polite reception. He is an advocate of government assistance in some fields and of government efforts to speed the nation's economic growth.

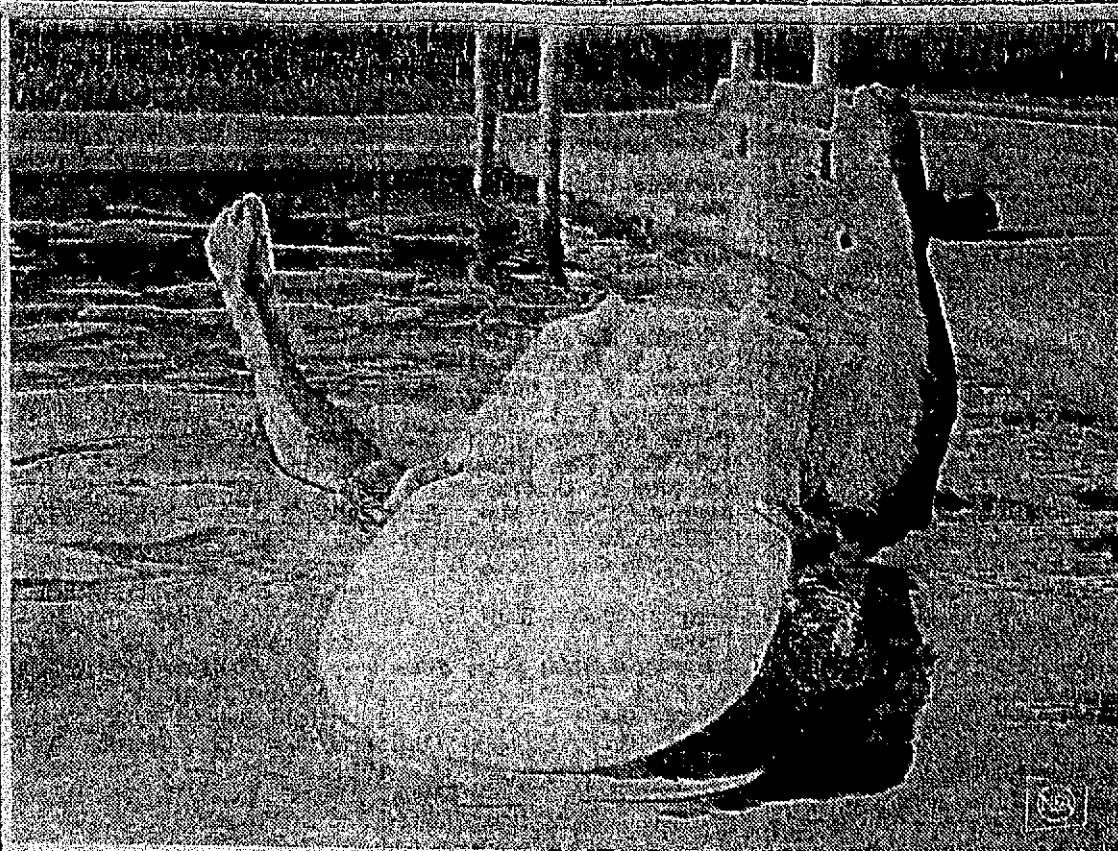

Some party leaders said they believed the platform will fall somewhere between the conflicting viewpoints of Goldwater and Rockefeller. They based this on the belief that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the probable presidential nominee, will urge a middle road.

Goldwater told the committee he is concerned that his party might lose its identity "in a mistaken effort to adopt the tactics and practices of the spend-and-spend elect-and-elect architects of the New Deal and the Fair Deal."

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, said he would prefer party defeat to a platform of what he called a spending platform.

Rockefeller, on the other hand, expressed concern over what he called the slow pace of the nation's economic growth.

"Stagnation and timidity are alien," he said. "Let us, then, act in economic affairs as in political affairs, with a vigor and a resolve and a confidence worthy of the men who helped America

Chapter XXI

He hung up the instrument and stroled out and up the street to the bar known as Uncle's Palace and waited outside. In a surprisingly short time he heard the siren of a police car and went inside and ordered a beer. The police car stopped in the street and a rangy man in plain clothes entered. A glance told Artemus that the officer might be 40 years old. His eyes were brown, his face aquiline and grimly intelligent. Artemus concentrated on his beer.

"Baldwin," snapped the lieutenant.

"So what?" Artemus asked over his shoulder.

Dutra jerked him off the stool and wagged a thumb toward the door.

"What goes?" Artemus demanded.

Dutra made no reply, but showed him toward the entrance.

Artemus shrugged and walked to the waiting car. Seated between the driver and the lieutenant, he was driven to headquarters and taken to Dutra's office.

Dutra pushed him aside, closed the door behind him and sat down at his desk.

"Is this place air-tight?" Artemus asked.

"Enough so."

"Wired for sound?"

"If I want it that way."

"Turn it off or no talk," Artemus said.

The lieutenant snapped a switch. "Talk fast," he said.

Artemus sat down. "Artemus Baldwin, Secret Service," he said.

"What proves it?" Dutra demanded.

"I don't want a call to go through the switchboard."

"Can do," Dutra said.

"Call Wessler in the Federal Building, I'll talk."

Wessler's voice came over the wire. "Baldwin speaking," Artemus said. "I'm in Lieutenant Dutra's office. I need substantiation."

"Is this wise or necessary?" Wessler asked.

"Both, sir," Artemus said earnestly.

Artemus handed back the telephone. "Mr. Wessler?" asked the lieutenant.

"I'm Wessler."

"There's a man here claims to belong to you. Six feet. Gray eyes, about a 180. Slick dresser, Scar on his left hand."

"He's ours," Wessler said.

Dutra said thank you, replaced the instrument and gave his attention to Artemus. "We've got enough trouble without your breaking dishes."

"Sorry, lieutenant. I may need your help. Not police-department help, but yours. Nobody else is to know, please."

Dutra nodded. "I'll cooperate. What am I to know?"

"Count on falling assignment," Artemus told him. "That first body I found — Sweet Lips Chavez. One of the bill rammed in his mouth was a bogus ten. I slipped it out. Another turned up at the dog track. New ones in use and very fine pieces of work."

"This Yaqui mixed up in it?"

"I don't think so. Another business. Know a lawyer by the name of Marvin Leeds?"

"By reputation."

"What's his reputation?"

"Excellent. Not an enormous practice, but solid."

"He's in the rackets up to his ears. I haven't lied him to the counterfeiting, but could be pulling the screws on me."

Artemus grinned. "I was carrying a flier identifying me as a Chicago gunman on the lam, name of Anton. Spain. I put it where it would be easy to find. Leeds showed up with it and put on the pressure. Either I take part in a Yaqui gold swindle or he tips off the Chicago police. This Spain qualifies as a tough citizen with a gun."

"You've been living up to the toughness," Dutra said dryly.

"Leeds can do sleight-of-hand tricks with a gun," Artemus said.

"He demon trated. I don't believe he's any more interested in the Yaqui swindle than he is in irregular Latin verbs."

"What is he interested in?"

"My guess is he hopes he's tricked me into eliminating the opposition. Forced me to muscle in on the regular mob who handle such things as the Yaqui racket. Sicked them on me, and sicked me on them. They sent a couple of gorillas to give me the business." He grinned again.

"Lads by the names of Moose Burps."

"I know them," Dutra said.

"Then came an odd dide," Artemus said. "Enter a mysterious unknown who scared Burps and Moose away, and at whom I didn't get a look. Then they decorated my shower/bath with this dead Yaqui. He was one of the people supposed to pretty up the Yaqui gold swindle for me. As soon as your policemen cleared out, Leeds telephoned, inciting me to start a private gang war. Indicated he might be able to tell me whom to be mad at, and offering a cash reward for results. And that's the bundle of news." He did not mention Walker Bayside, nor the Beauregards, nor the Roches. Those were things to be kept in reserve.

"And I," said Dutra wryly. "Thought Leeds was a public-spirited citizen. All right, Mr. Baldwin, I look all this between my ears. What do you want me to do?"

"Harry me. Make me. Pick me up every couple of days and give me the works. You can be a pipeline to Norman Wessler when I need to get in touch. That way I can keep you abreast of things. I can holler for help. And police persecution will add to my reputation."

Quit a Good Job

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Tom Lanphier, who quit a $50,000-a-year job to attack government defense policies, is looking for work again — disappointed and about $30,000 poorer.

He was vice president of General Dynamics Convair Division.

Lanphier claims the Eisenhower administration is gambling with national safety by failing to approve construction of larger numbers of missiles and planes.

He quit his job with Convair because critics charged he was only trying to sell more Convair-built weapons.

Secretary of State Job Important

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The second most important job in the government, secretary of state, will be in the hands of the voters at all when they choose their new president and vice president next November.

There is speculation now that if Sen. John F. Kennedy wins the presidency he will choose between Adlai B. Stevenson and Chester Bowles in naming his secretary. There is not even speculation on who he is a new Republican president's choice.

But in the next four years — with Russia growing stronger, more daring and more belligerent and Red China's muscles getting bigger day by day — the secretary of state will have a tremendous burden.

One thing seems sure. Even if the Republicans win the election, the present secretary, Christian A. Herter, will step out. Herter is an honest man and an earnest one, but during his secretaryship this country has suffered diplomatic disasters.

For instance, there were the American U-2 spy plane downed over Russia, the State Department's bungling in handling that episode, the blowup of the summit meeting, the cancellation of President Eisenhower's trips to Russia and Japan.

In addition there has been the wretched deterioration in relations with Cuba, the Soviet efforts to get a foot in there, the debacle in the Congo, and the Communist maneuvering to edge into Africa.

These are probably only samples of problems to come but as yet unimagined.

Handling them will call for firmness and decision and, perhaps above all, imagination in finding new methods of dealing with communism to prevent its expansion.

For most of Eisenhower's two terms John Foster Dulles was his secretary of state, and the President relied upon his judgment perhaps more than any president in this century has leaned on a secretary of state.

Dulles was many things — tough, agile, fearless — but imagination was not one of his strong points. He really initiated very little. Instead he took over from his predecessor, Dean Acheson, the policy of containment, which is still being followed through a system of alliances and overseas bases.

While this system will probably be retained in the four years ahead, the most delicate tasks will probably lie elsewhere — in devising means of linking the backward people of Africa and elsewhere to be neutral or friendly to this country.

Kennedy, the Democrats' presidential nominee, and vice president-elect Richard M. Nixon, who have held high overseas government assignments, use such assignment.

Bowles, now a Democratic congressman from Connecticut, was ambassador to India and was Kennedy's foreign policy adviser during the latter's campaign for the presidential nomination. Both Bowles and Stevenson have written on foreign affairs.

There has been so much speculation on who may be Nixon's vice presidential running mate this year that very little has been said about his possible choice of a secretary of state.

DOROTHY DIX

Boy Loves Mother But Fears Marriage

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:

I am 17 and going with a boy 23 who is of different faith. I am carrying his baby. We told our parents. His father and mine want us to marry, but he says he isn't ready for marriage. My mother told me to tell him that I'm through—but I love him. He says he loves me and wants our baby but repeats that he does not want to marry yet. He comes to see me all the time and is scared something will happen to me and the baby when it comes, and still he balks at marriage.

He says he knew a boy who was in the same position that he is now and when the baby was born his mother left him for another guy. Do you think he will still want me after my baby is born? If we don't marry how will I face down the disgrace that I bring to myself and to the family I love so very much? I am ashamed of the worry I've brought to my mother and father. Can you help me? —E

Dear E.: Your boy friend evidently suffers from a psychological block brought about by over-pressure from all concerned. Give him a chance to make up his own mind. It would probably hasten matters if you took the advice of your mother and called quits. Such is the perversity of human nature, he will thereupon probably move heaven and earth to find you and insist upon an immediate marriage.

Dear Helen Worden Erskine: When we moved to this two-family house, we found our next-door neighbors to be wonderful people with two small children the same ages as our own. We became good friends and the children played well together.

Our peaceful existence has been shattered by the appearance of a third family which recently moved in upstairs. Their son is almost five—the same age as our son. He is selfish, spoiled and nasty tempered. When all the children play together there is trouble. Since I am on the first floor I see more of these fights than either of the other mothers. Two days ago I happened to be near the window and that the boy upstairs had the two-year-old boy next door backed against a wall and was kicking him savagely in the stomach. I stopped him and sent the little boy home. The boy upstairs told me, "Why should I mind you? You aren't my mother."

Should I let someone get hurt, be a tattletale, or continue breaking up the fight? I am friends with both mothers and want no trouble. —Mrs. C

Dear Mrs. C: Next time the little monster goes to work, quietly call in the mothers and let them see and hear for themselves. But the young bully is right in one thing: You have no authority over him. If he starts in on your own child, that's something else again. Otherwise, hands off!

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:

I've been going steady with a married woman six years. I'm in love with her. She has a girl friend who has too much power over her. When they go out together I'm never invited, although the girl friend takes her boy friend along. My girl tells me she loves me. Is she seriously in love with me, or not? —C.B.

Dear C.B.: If this married woman really loved you she would not have remained the wife of another man for the six years she's been two-timing with you. Better look for another girl—one who isn't wearing a wedding ring.

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:

My problem is my 10-year-old boy and his school work. He waits until the last minute to turn in an assignment—sometimes he doesn't do it at all and he never studies for a test. He had special studies last summer (at $60) and still gets grades far below average. All he seems to think about is play and TV. I tried putting him to bed early and no TV. But it didn't work. I try to be patient, encouraging and give him extra loving, but after awhile I lose all patience and say things to him I know I shouldn't. I do love him and he is a good boy but I'm at a loss on just how to make him understand the importance of his school work. Can you help me? —Mrs. M.P.

Dear Mrs. M.P.: Children learn by imitating those whom they admire. If you associate with your boy at all you are involved in educating him. To do this successfully, you must win his confidence by being his companion.

Instead of sending him to summer studies, study with him at home. But remember to be a desirable companion, you must be an interesting one. The most mundane study can be made interesting if you bring enthusiasm and excitement to bear. Make the summer refresher course a game. Have fun and your little boy will have fun too. Look upon it not as a duty, but as a wonderful opportunity for you and him to get better acquainted.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper. (Released by The Bell Syndicate)

Rookie Hurler Gets 1-Hitter in First Game

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Juan Marichal, 21, a rookie from the Dominican Republic, has become the first National League pitcher in modern days to pitch a one-hitter in his first big league start.

The 6-10 right-hander, who was the strikeout king of the Pacific Coast League until he was recalled from Tacoma with an 11-5 record, had a perfect game for 6-1-3 innings Tuesday night for San Francisco. An error by Eddie Broussard let the Phils' Tony Taylor reach base.

Marichal lost his no-hit bid when pinch-hitter Clay Carroll singled with two out in the eighth. The newcomer struck out 12, only three short of the record that the Dodgers' Karl Spooner set in his first start in 1954.

No other National League pitcher in modern days, since 1900, has thrown a one-hitter in his first start. Charles Jones of Cincinnati pitched a no-hitter in his major league debut in 1884. Two American Leaguers have broken in with one-hitters, Addie Joss of Cleveland and Mike Porcile of Washington.

Milwaukee shed Pittsburgh's league lead to 1-1/2 games by winning its sixth straight on a 9-5 decision over St. Louis, while Pittsburgh was losing to Los Angeles 5-4. Cincinnati whipped Chicago 4-1 behind Jim O'Rourke in the other game.

In the American League, New York remained two full games ahead of Chicago by outslugging Cleveland 13-11, while the White Sox were blanking Boston 6-0 behind Billy Pierce. Washington's Pedro Ramos held Detroit to one hit—an eighth-inning single by Rocky Colavito—while winning 5-0. Baltimore scored six in the 10th to top Kansas City 9-3.

Marichal's performance could be a tonic to the floundering Giants, who have dropped into the second division. Mixing a change-up with curves and fast balls, he moved down the first 19 Phils.

After Johnny Callison filed out, Marichal wild pitched and then issued his only walk to Pancho Herrera before Willie Mays pulled down Joe Morgan's long fly, ending the inning.

Darvyl, batting for catcher Cal Neeman with two out in the eighth, hit Marichal's first pitch sharply to center field. The rookie wasn't bothered. He got the next man to end the eighth and retired the side in order in the ninth.

Norm Larker's two-run home run in the seventh gave Los Angeles a come-from-behind victory over the Pirates who led 4-0 going to the last of the sixth. Larker also had two singles, boosting his league-leading batting average to .350.

Milwaukee blew a three-run lead but took advantage of the shaky Cardinal defense to edge closer to the Pirates. Hank Aaron's 25th homer in the eighth was the clincher for relief man Ron Piche. Curt Flood Stan Musial and Julian Javier homered for the Cards.

Frank Robinson hit two home runs in Cincinnati's victory over the Cubs, who have scored a total of only three runs in five games since the All-Star break.

An Open Letter

Information has come to me that, in view of the fact that I am a County official, I am being severely criticized by certain individuals for taking an active part in the Judge's race. Therefore, in order to not be misunderstood and that the voters have all of the facts, I am writing this letter.

I am a County official, being handicapped, because of physical disability beyond my control, in 1949 I asked the people of Hempstead County to elect me Tax Assessor, of which, I was elected, and through the kindness of the good people of Hempstead County, I have continued to hold public office by changing about, up to this time. In 1958, I promised the people of Hempstead County that if elected I would not run in 1960 and, in spite of much solicitation, I kept my promise. I am taking part in this election not as a County official, but as a citizen and tax payer of Hempstead County, Arkansas.

I Am Not Supporting Ulysses G. Garrett:

1. In 1952 he told the good people of Hempstead County if they would elect him County Judge he would not ask again, and now asking the good people of Hempstead County for his fifth (5) term. I think he should keep his promise.

2. He spent over $420,000.00 in 1959, where has it been spent?

3. He refused to pay a claim for one of my deputies for January, 1960, because, why, I do not know, as the claim was properly filed, but he marked on the claim, "DISALLOWED", in spite of the fact that the ATTORNEY GENERAL OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS ruled that the claim was a valid claim. Moreover, he the County Judge failed to make an order of his action on the claim and have it recorded, making it impossible for me to appeal, I did file an affidavit for an appeal.

Now there is nothing personal in my opposition to Ulysses G. Garrett. In fact, he has my sympathy. He is affected with the same trouble that caused the downfall of Hitler — the symptoms of which is an uncontrollable craving for power, and the only remedy is an overwhelming vote of the people, evidencing the fact we are still a Government of the people, for the people, by the people, and do not relish a one man control.

Yours truly,
Garrett Willis

Guatemala Declares Siege State

GUATEMALA (AP)—The Guatemalan government today declared a state of siege—a modified form of martial law—because of the country's political situation. It is to be effective 30 days.

A communique said Monday that 14 men armed with machine guns tried to capture the military base of Alta Verapaz, but were repulsed.

The communique said an army lieutenant and a civilian were captured by soldiers at the base. There was no immediate mention of casualties.

Communications to the base were cut before the assault.

Monday night a hand grenade exploded in a motion picture theater, killing one person and injuring at least 30.

Police Chief Francisco Ardon attributed this incident to terrorism.

Little Piggie Had His Way

WEINER, Ark. (AP)—A little piggie who apparently didn't want to go home with Mrs. Mary Morris had his way today.

In the process, Mrs. Morris' automobile was wrecked and she was hospitalized.

State Trooper Jerry Maynard said Mrs. Morris, 62, who lives near Jonesboro, gave this account:

She bought the four-week-old piglet at Waldenburg, put it in a burrito sack and placed the sack on the front seat of her car.

As she drove along Highway 39 near Weiner on the way home, the squirming sack flipped off the seat and landed on her foot. The foot on the accelerator pedal that is.

She lost control and the car smashed into a tree on the roadside, Mrs. Morris was injured. She was hospitalized at Jonesboro in good condition.

Trooper Maynard found the sack at the scene of the wreck, but the piglet had vanished.

Good Voting for Labor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education said today Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, has a "perfect voting record on labor issues."

The Arkansas State Hospital now has full-time chaplains at each unit of the hospital to provide pastoral counseling and religious services to patients and their families.

PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL
AMENDMENT NO. 51

BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the State of Arkansas, and by the House of Representatives, a majority of all members elected to each House agreeing thereto:

That the following is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and upon being submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at the next general election for Representatives and Senators, if a majority of the electors voting thereon, at such an election adopt such amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:

SECTION 1. In addition to other powers granted by constitutional or statutory authority, cities of the first and second class may issue, by and with consent of a majority of the qualified electors of said municipality voting on the question at an election held for the purpose, bonds in sums and for the purposes approved by such majority at such election as follows:

For the payment of any indebtedness existing at the time of the adoption of this amendment; for the purchase of rights of way for construction of public streets, alleys, boulevards, and expressways, within the corporate limits of such municipality for the construction of widening or straightening of streets, alleys, boulevards, expressways, and parking facilities, within the corporate limits of such municipality; for the purchase, development and improvement of public parks, airports, flying fields, and recreational facilities located either within or without the corporate limits of such municipality; for the construction of sewers and comfort stations; for the purchase of fire alarm systems; for the purchase of street, police or fire fighting apparatus and equipment; for the purchase of street and sewer cleaning equipment and apparatus; for the purchase of sites for construction of, and equipment of city halls, auditoriums, court houses, prisons, libraries, hospitals, clinics, public abattoirs, incinerators or garbage disposal or sewage treatment plants; for building for the housing of street, police or fire fighting apparatus and equipment; for the construction of viaducts and bridges.

the purpose of purchasing, extending, improving, enlarging, building, or construction of water works or light plants, and distribution systems therefor; and for the purchase of sites for improving or equipping harbor and river terminal facilities; and for the acquisition, development and construction of other municipal or public facilities and improvements. For the purchase, development, improvement and improvement of airports, waterworks, sewage disposal systems or any other municipal facilities which are wholly or partially located outside the boundaries of this State.

No bonds issued under the authority of this amendment shall bear a greater rate of interest than six per cent per annum payable either annually or semi-annually; that is to say, the cost to the municipality for interest and discount on each issue of bonds shall not exceed six per cent per annum, and no bonds issued under the authority of this amendment shall ever be sold except at public sale after twenty days' advertisement in some newspaper having a bona fide circulation in the municipality issuing such bonds.

In order to provide for the payment of the bonds issued under the provisions of this amendment, and interest thereon, a special tax in addition to the legal rate permitted may be levied by municipalities on the real and personal taxable property therein. And any municipality issuing any bonds shall, before or at the time of doing so, levy a direct tax payable annually sufficient to pay the interest on such bonds as the same matures, and also sufficient to pay and discharge the principal of all such bonds at their respective maturities. The special tax permitted by this amendment shall not be subject to any constitutional limitation; provided, however, the General Assembly may by legislative act limit the rate of such taxation, which limitation shall be effective only upon a special tax levied for the payment of bonds issued after the effective date of such legislative act.

Said bonds shall be serial, maturing annually after three years from date of issue, and shall be paid off as they mature, and no bonds issued under the authority of this amendment shall be issued for a longer period than forty years.

It shall be the duty of the mayor and city council or other governing body established by law, to exercise supervision over the sale of any bonds, which may be voted by the people at an election held for that purpose and they shall expend economically the funds so provided for the specified purposes for which they were voted.

Said election shall be held at such times as the city council may designate by ordinance, which ordinance shall specifically state the purpose for which the bonds are to be issued, and if for more than one purpose, provisions shall be made in said ordinance for balloting on each separate purpose; which ordinance shall state the sum total of the issue, the dates of maturity thereof and shall fix the date of election so that it shall not occur earlier than thirty days after the passage of said ordinance. Said election shall be held and conducted, and the vote thereof canvassed, and the result thereof declared under the law and in the manner now or hereafter provided for municipal elections, so far as the same may be applicable, except as herein otherwise provided. Notice of election shall be given by said mayor by advertisement weekly for at least four times, in some newspaper published in said municipality and having a bona fide circulation therein, the last publication to be not less than ten days prior to the date of said election. Qualified voters of said municipality only shall have a right to vote at said elections. The result of said election shall be proclaimed by the mayor and the result as proclaimed shall be conclusive unless attacked in the courts within thirty days after the date of such proclamation. This amendment shall not repeal or affect any law relating to the organization of improvement districts.

SECTION 2. In addition to any existing Constitutional or Statutory provisions, and the powers granted under the provisions of this amendment, cities of the first and second class, are hereby authorized to levy a tax on the real and personal property located within the corporate limits of five (5) mills on the dollar of the assessed value of such property. That the revenues from such tax may be used for any municipal purpose now or hereafter authorized.

SECTION 3. The General Assembly may by legislative act allow cities of the first and second class to levy additional taxes for any municipal purpose, now or hereafter authorized, and such taxes or the rates thereof shall not be limited by any existing Constitutional provision.

SECTION 4. The salaries of officials and employees of cities of the first and second class shall be fixed by the governing body of such cities; and the amounts of such salaries shall not be limited by any existing Constitutional provision.

SECTION 5. This amendment shall be in force upon its adoption, and shall not require legislative action to put it into force and effect.

All provisions of this amendment, whenever at any annual school election, a majority of the qualified electors of the district shall be treated as mandatory, and all provisions of the Constitution, or amendments thereto, in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

CONSTITUTIONAL
AMENDMENT NO. 52

BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the State of Arkansas, and by the House of Representatives, a majority of all members elected to each House agreeing thereto:

That the following is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and upon being submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at the next general election for Representatives and Senators, if a majority of the electors voting thereon, at such an election adopt such amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:

SECTION 1. Intelligence and virtue being the safeguards of liberty and bulwark of a free and good government, it is hereby declared to be the public policy that Arkansas shall ever provide financial aid whereby all residents of this State between the ages of six and eighteen years may, as desired by them or their parents or guardians, receive gratuitous instruction; and, that the manner of administering such aid can best be determined at the local level.

SECTION 2. Financial aid to carry out the aforesaid declared policy of the people of this State shall be raised at both the State and local levels through taxation now or hereafter authorized by law. Financial aid at the State level shall be provided in such amounts, and distributed to school districts under such formula, or formulas, as the General Assembly shall, from time to time, determine; and, financial aid at the local level shall be provided in such amounts as shall from time to time be determined by the qualified electors of the respective school districts.

SECTION 3. The qualified electors of each school district shall have the right to determine by their vote at a special election called for the purpose, the manner of applying the financial aid available for the instruction of residents of the district between the ages of six and eighteen years; and such instruction may be provided either: (a) through a system of free public schools wherein the district will provide the physical plant, employ instructors, and do any and all things necessary to maintain a general, suitable and efficient system of free schools to be operated by the district; or (b) through student education financial aid where the district will apply all available funds for the equal benefit of all such residents for the periods of time during which they respectively receive instruction in this State.

SECTION 4. Subject to such limitations as may be imposed by law, exclusive jurisdiction for the government of each school district shall be vested in a board of directors.

SECTION 5. There is hereby levied and there shall be collected an annual per capita tax of one dollar from each resident of one State over the age of twenty-one years, and the proceeds thereof shall be used for educational purposes in such manner as is now or hereafter may be provided by law.

SECTION 6. Not less than fifteen days next preceding each annual school election, the board of directors of each school district shall prepare, approve and make public a proposed budget of expenditures in which there shall be set forth the amount of funds determined by the board as being necessary to provide, during the next following fiscal year, gratuitous instruction for residents of the district between the ages of six and eighteen years. The proposed budget shall set forth the estimated amounts, respectively, of funds necessary: (a) to meet the debt service requirements of the district's issued and outstanding bonds; (b) to meet its other contractual obligations; (c) to pay insurance premiums and cost of maintenance or custodial care of buildings and other property owned by the district; and (d), in such detail as the board shall determine, the estimated amount of funds required for other educational purposes.

From the total of the aforementioned requirements for the fiscal year shall be deducted the estimated amount of funds to be available to the district from State aid and from all other sources other than the local property tax, and the remainder as so determined shall be designated and known as the budget deficit. Based upon the assessed valuation of all taxable property within the territorial bounds of the district for the then current year, the board of directors shall determine the rate of tax levy necessary to provide, when applied to the amount of said assessed valuation, funds of sufficient amount to meet the aforesaid budget deficit; and the rate of tax levy as so determined shall be submitted for the approval or disapproval of the qualified electors of the district at the next following annual school election.

If the qualified electors of the district vote in favor of the proposed rate of tax levy, then the rate of tax levy shall be approved by the board of directors, then taxes shall be collected at the rate so approved. In the event the rate shall not be approved at any such election, then taxes shall be collected at the rate of thirty (30) mills on each dollar of assessed valuation, or at the rate approved at the next preceding annual school election, whichever rate shall be the lower figure. Provided, that no rate of tax levy shall ever be less than the aggregate of the rates of any continuing levies theretofore approved for the purpose of meeting the debt service requirements of the district's issued and outstanding bonds, unless funds for the payment thereof shall have otherwise been specifically provided for.

SECTION 7. With respect to each school district, proposals for the issuance of bonds and for the collection of taxes at a continuing rate of levy for the payment thereof may be submitted by the board of directors for the approval or disapproval of the qualified electors voting on any annual school election, and upon petition of not less than ten percent of the qualified electors of the district, or by resolution of the board of directors, such proposals may be submitted for the approval or disapproval of the qualified electors voting on any such proposition at a special election called for the purpose by the County Judge. No school district may issue bonds unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on any such proposition at a school election shall approve the same; and no bonds or other evidences of debt hereafter issued by any school district shall be secured by a lien on the property of the district, and no district may pledge any of its revenues for the payment of said bonds or other evidences of debt except revenues to be derived from the collection of taxes upon taxable property within the district under a continuing rate of levy approved by a majority of the qualified electors voting on the proposition at a school election. The principal amount of any proposed bond issue may include the estimated amount of interest to be due on such bonds during the first year.

SECTION 8. The manner of applying financial aid for the instruction of residents of any school district between the ages of six and eighteen years shall be changed, effective immediately, from the then existing manner to any other manner authorized by Section 3 hereof, whenever the proposition of making such change shall be approved by a majority vote of the qualified electors of the district voting on the proposition at a special school election called for that purpose by the County Judge of the county in which all or the major portion of the land area within the territorial bounds of any such district is located. The County Judge shall call such special election within thirty days after the receipt by him: (a) of a petition containing the signatures of not less than a majority of the board of directors of the district; or (b) of petitions containing the signatures of not less than ten per cent of the qualified electors of the district. Provided, that not less than twelve months shall elapse after any such special election before another special election may be called for the purpose of again voting on the proposition of changing the manner of applying financial aid.

In each instance in which the manner of applying financial aid for the instruction of residents of the district between the ages of six and eighteen years shall be changed through student education financial aid, then all funds of the district, save only such funds as are necessary to meet the debt service requirements of the district's issued and outstanding bonds, to meet its other contractual obligations, and to pay insurance premiums on, and cost of maintenance or custodial care of, the district, shall be used for student education financial aid, and shall be applied equally for the benefit of all such residents for the periods of time during which they respectively receive instruction in this State.

SECTION 9. Either branch of the General Assembly at a regular or special session thereof may propose amendments to this measure, and, if any such proposal be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, such proposal shall be submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at a special election called for the purpose by the Governor; and if a majority of the qualified electors voting at such special election adopt such amendment the same shall be operative on and after the 30th day after the election at which it is approved, unless otherwise specified in the amendment. Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to limit the power of the General Assembly to submit proposed amendments to this measure as provided by Section 22 of Article 19 of the Constitution of this State.

SECTION 10. The provisions of this measure are hereby declared to be severable.

SECTION 11. Article 14 and Amendments Nos. 11 and 40 to the Constitution of this State are hereby repealed.

SECTION 12. This amendment shall be self-executing, and its provisions shall be treated as mandatory, but laws shall be enacted by the General Assembly to facilitate its operation.

SECTION 13. This amendment shall take effect and be in full force on and after the date of its approval at the November, 1960, General Election.

Approved: March 16, 1959.

Star's Pictures Win National Recognition in Press Magazine

AT LEFT IS THE NEW POLAROID LAND "500" FILM holder and alongside it a standard 4x5 cut film holder, the two being interchangeable in a Speed Graphic camera.

Hope Star's use of the new Polaroid Land "500" Film Holder and the new Fairchild Illustrator electronic engraver is featured in the June issue of the National Press Photographer.

The Star introduced the new Polaroid holder for big press cameras to Arkansas newspaper circles when it was first announced two years ago, and the newspaper now has two of the special holders.

The "500" film holder takes single sheets of Polaroid film 4 by 5 inches, compared to the roll film size of 3 by 4 in the standard Polaroid cameras. The Star operates two of the professional Polaroid roll-film cameras, the old Pathfinder and the new 110-A—but the advantage of the "500" holder and its single-sheet film is that it can be used with the three lenses of the Speed Graphic: The Graphic has a standard 135mm. lens, a 360mm. telephoto, and a 65mm. wide-angle lens which covers an angle of 100 degrees.

The "500" film holder and Speed Graphic were used Tuesday night to make the pictures of the announcement of the new Livestock & Timber Experiment Station which appear on the front page of today's edition. The crowd scene was shot with the wide-angle lens, the other pictures with the standard 135mm. lens. On the Illustrator electronic engraver the crowd scene and the picture of Dr. White, addressing the cattlemen were enlarged 1.7 times; and the picture of Lloyd Spencer presenting the lease contract was enlarged 2.2 times. The printing plates were engraved within an hour after the meeting ended—saving hours of darkroom work that would have been required with conventional film and enlarging methods.

"To cite another example, the dam, editors of the Hope (Arkansas) Star pointed out to their readers in a special article that the Illustrator was responsible for their new look during 1959.

"This new look," they said, stemmed directly from their increased use of photographs. And the story went on to explain that the new Illustrator enabled the Star to increase the size of their pictures to five columns wide and eight inches deep. Prior to receiving their Illustrator they had been using a Scan-A-Graver Cadet with both the Polaroid Land 4x5 Film Holders and the Polaroid Land Cameras. The Star also does the engraving for a nearby weekly newspaper whose editor recently switched to using the Polaroid 4x5 Film Holders.

The editor referred to in the national magazine is Louis Graves of the Nashville News. The Star also does engraving for the Gordon Times, Nevada County Pleasure of Prescott, the LaFayette County Democrat of Lewis and Lewisville, and the Lewisville Herald.

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Hershel Burnell, 26, a Negro, is being questioned in the death of his wife, whose badly-beaten body was found on a roadside Sunday.

Sheriff Grover Lineberger said Inez Burnell, 25, had been reported missing Saturday night. The Y's band was picked up in a Negro residential area.

Fishermen reported signs of a struggle in the wooded area near a rural road where the body was found. A trail of blood and clothing led officers to the nearby nude body.

Authorities said Burnell had served a prison term in connection with a slaying.
